Sessions for PhD Students

PhD students may submit almost-complete research with the regular paper submissions. It should be marked as a student paper, and a comment noted to have it considered for this special session on Friday afternoon. Our PhD Session chairs will assign discussants to these papers who will focus on constructive criticism to help provide ideas to finish and enhance the papers.

Participation

We are working to maximize participation opportunities in the conference, so corresponding authors of accepted papers will generally not be asked to discuss papers. Instead, we will select discussants and session chairs from our list of NFA contacts, which includes NFA 5-Year Members, reviewers, current authors and prior authors. If you would like to be considered as a reviewer, please contact the Program Chair at nfaprogramchair@northernfinance.org
