Position Summary

The Alberta School of Business, University of Alberta, invites applications for a full-time tenure-track faculty position in Finance. We will be recruiting for more than one position. The anticipated start date is July 1, 2023.

Candidates will have graduated from an accredited PhD program in a relevant area, such as finance and economics. Candidates who are close to PhD completion may be considered; however, the appointment will be contingent upon the completion of the PhD by an agreed-upon date. We are seeking candidates possessing an excellent research record or potential for publication in top journals in Finance, an alignment with the current research competencies of the department (corporate finance, asset pricing, financial institutions, market micro structure), and evidence of teaching excellence. Proficiency in English is required.

Responsibilities of the position include teaching Finance courses in undergraduate and graduate programs, conducting and publishing research in top tier Finance journals, and service to the School's academic activities. The Alberta School of Business has an energetic PhD program and the successful candidate will be expected to play an active role in its continuing success and development.

The Alberta School of Business is one of the world's leading institutions in business education and research. As the first and longest continually accredited business school in Canada, the Alberta School of Business is one of the largest business schools in Canada with 70 faculty members, 2100 undergraduate students, and 950 students in our Masters and PhD programs. Since 1916, the innovative ideas, entrepreneurial spirit and leadership of the School's more than 31,000 alumni have strengthened businesses and communities worldwide. Our vision is simple, yet powerful: To develop and inspire entrepreneurial leaders from Alberta for the World. Our mission is to excel and lead through research, teaching and external engagement.
